

Researcher ID/Publons – 2019 Instructions

ResearcherID is has now been integrated into the Publons platform:

<https://publons.com/account/login/>. Publons is similar to researcher ID and is a platform which records, verifies, and showcases peer review contributions of researchers. Publons information integrates with Web of Science or records imported from ORCID, EndNote or manual uploads and allows you to track citations to your research outputs that are indexed in Web of Science. Please note that publications that have been manually entered into your Publons from journals outside of Web of Science will not track your citation metrics.

Your Account

Existing Account

If you already have an account for ResearcherID, or Web of Science, you can login at <https://publons.com/account/login/> using the same username and password. The publications you previously added into ResearcherID have automatically be added into your Publons account.

Create a New Account

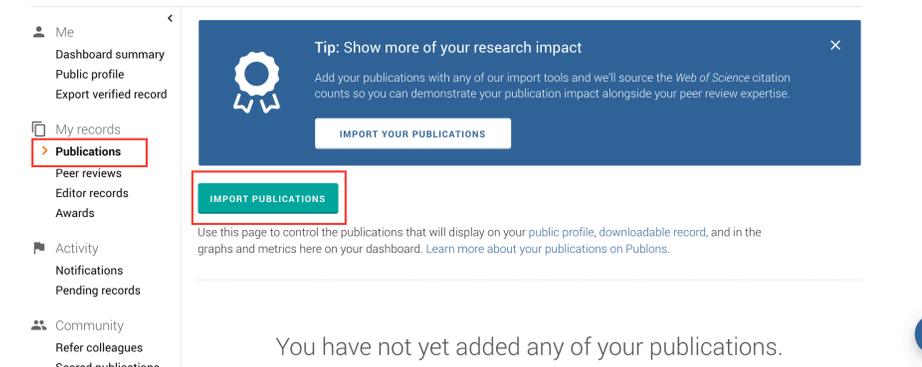

If you do not already have a ResearcherID, create a Publons account here: <https://publons.com/account/register/>. You will receive a ResearcherID overnight from Publons that you will be able to use to attach to your publications in Web of Science.

Adding Publications

Once logged into your account you can load your publications by importing them from Web of Science, ORCID account, EndNote Library or manually using identifiers such as DOI numbers. (Note that citation metrics won't be tracked for records that do not appear in Web of Science).

Loading Web of Science publications

Select “Publications” under My Records then select “Import Publications”

The screenshot shows the Publons user interface. On the left is a sidebar menu with the following items: Me (Dashboard summary, Public profile, Export verified record), My records (Publications, Peer reviews, Editor records, Awards), Activity (Notifications, Pending records), and Community (Refer colleagues, Scored publications). The 'Publications' item under 'My records' is highlighted with a red box. The main content area features a blue tip banner that reads: 'Tip: Show more of your research impact. Add your publications with any of our import tools and we'll source the Web of Science citation counts so you can demonstrate your publication impact alongside your peer review expertise.' Below the banner is a white button labeled 'IMPORT YOUR PUBLICATIONS'. Underneath that is a green button labeled 'IMPORT PUBLICATIONS' with a red box around it. Below the green button is a small text block: 'Use this page to control the publications that will display on your public profile, downloadable record, and in the graphs and metrics here on your dashboard. Learn more about your publications on Publons.' At the bottom of the main content area, it says 'You have not yet added any of your publications.'

Keeping your account up-to-date

To keep your Publons profile up-to-date, you can create a saved search alert in Web of Science (from the 'My Tools' function). Alerts will be emailed to you when your new publications have been indexed.
